THE GAZETTE.

THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 3.

A writer in the Peuple Français tells a rather hard story of Mehemet Aii, in illustration of his nice sense of justice. - Making a tour of his provinces, in great state and with a cavalry guard, he was stopped by an old woman, who threw herself at his feet. "Your Highness," said she, "one of your soldiers has bought some milk of me for six paras, and won't pay me." "Why won't you pay her?" demanded Mehemet Ali of the soldier. "Master," said he, "this woman lies; she has sold me no milk, and I owe her nothing." "You swear by Allah that you speak the truth?" said the Pacha then to the woman. "Yes I swear it." "And you as well?" said he to the soldier. "Yes, I swear it." "Very well" said the Pacha. Then turning to his guard, he added, with perfect turning to his guard, he added, with perfect composure, "Take this man and open his stomach" The Pacha's order was obeyed, and the milk was found. The soldier had just drank it. "The woman is right," said Mehemet Ali, remounting his horse; "let her have the six paras that are due her." And he continued his journey.

EDITORIAL SELECTIONS. - Most people think the selection of suitable matter for a newspaper | & the easiest part of the business. How great an the easiest part of the business. How great an error! To look over and oversifity exchange papers daily, from which to select enough for one, especially when the question is not E Castings of every description made at E one, especially when the question is not what shall, but what shall not be selected, is no very easy task. If every person who reads a newspaper could have edited it, we should have less complaints. Not unfrequently it is the case that an editor looks over all his exchange papers for something interesting, and can find absolutely nothing. Every paper is drier than a contribution box, and yet something must be GiAS AND STEAM FITTING had-his paper must be out with something in it, and he does the best he can. To an editor who has the least care in what he selects, the writing he has to do is the easiest part of his labor.

The words which Walter Scott puts in the mouth of Jenuic Deans, in her memorable address to the Queen, are as true as they are beautiful: "When the hour of trouble comes-and seldom may it visit your ladyship-and when the hour of death comes, that comes to high and low-lang and late mayit be yours. O my leddy !- it is na what we have done for oursels, but what we have done for others that we think on most pleasantly."
